Good afternoon 134th Assault Helicopter Company families,

After nearly 23 years our website www.134thahc.com is nearing its end. Microsoft Edge has joined Google Chrome in blocking flash. This change occurred this week with the new Windows 10 update patch. The only part of our site that continues to operate is the first page which was newly written last year prior to the San Antonio Reunion. Most of the links on that page will continue to work, page like the Remembrance, the rarely used Guestbook, the history page (except the menu), compiled stories, challenge coin and the hit counter. Those of you using Windows 7 with Internet Explorer still have access though Microsoft Support for Windows 7 has expired.

Hey, 23 years running ain't bad. I have been fooling around with HTML but the learning curve maybe a bit much for the old brain to deal with. We'll see where this takes us before shutting the page down completely. Before anyone asks, there is no way to upgrade flash to HTML.

BTW, the 134th Assault Helicopter Company Challenge Coin is still available for purchase. If interested in purchasing, reply to his message.

Keep your distance and stay safe,
